Teaching points

Teaching Point 1: Explain Leadership Within a Peer Setting

We'll look at responsibilities in this teaching point

Teaching Point 2: Conduct a Goal Mapping Activity

We'll be doing an activity in this teaching point

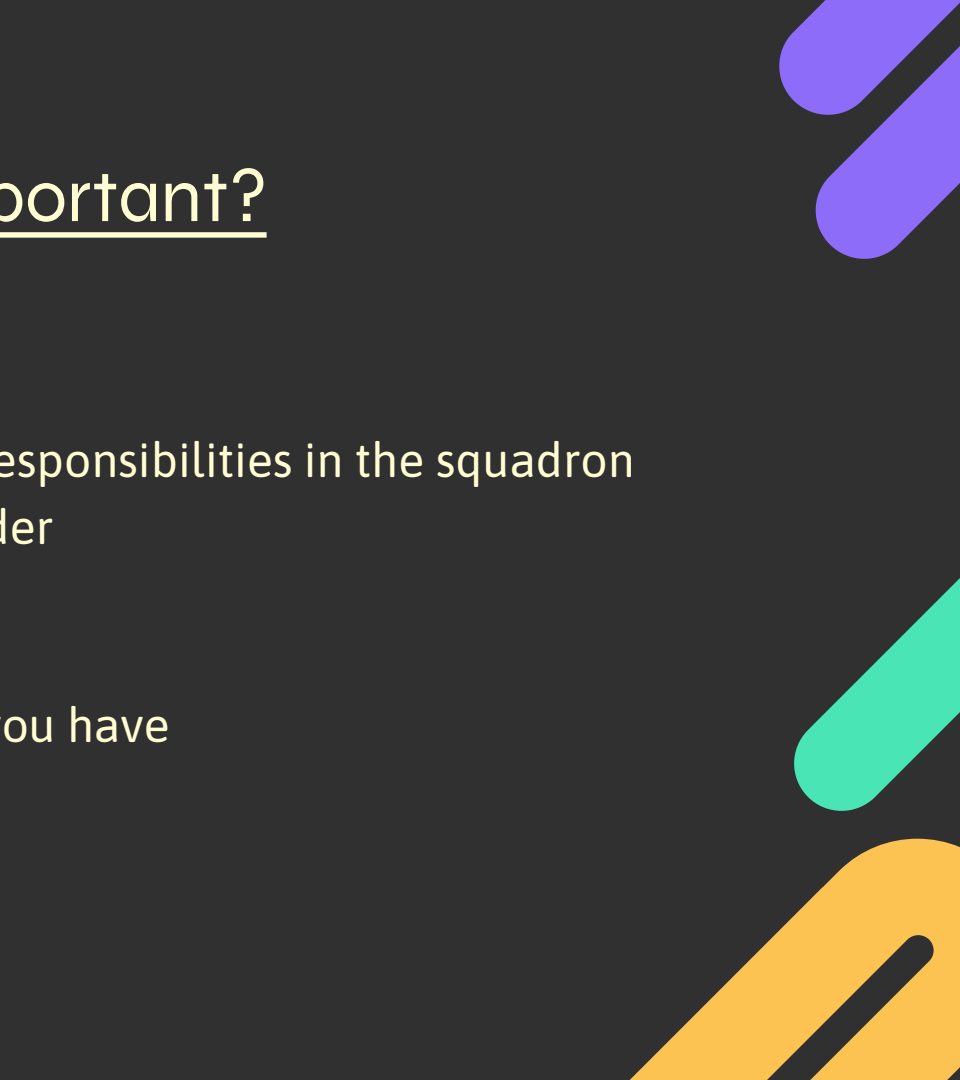

Why is this lesson important?

In the Air Cadet program:

- Helps cadets understand responsibilities in the squadron
- Set goals to become a leader

Outside of the program:

- Know the responsibilities you have
 - Work to improve!

Teaching Point 1 - Explain Leadership Within a Peer Setting

To be a leader, know your responsibilities!

What do you think some of the responsibilities in the squadron are?

Here are some responsibilities we have:

- Follow the chain of command
- Work on your uniform
- Participate and try your best
- Set a good example
- Be respectful to all cadets
- Be friendly and fair to peers
- Take initiative
- Staying safe and being aware of hazards
- Set Goals

Teaching Point 1 Confirmation Questions

Q1. List the responsibilities of level two cadets.	Q2. Why is setting a goal important?	Q3. In what ways can we show respect to cadets and officers?
● Follow chain of command ● Work on uniforms ● Participate and try your best ● Set a good example ● Respect staff ● Be friendly to peers ● Take initiative ● Keep safety in mind ● Set goals	Setting a goal shows personal progress, an understanding of yourself, and it gives you a way to show commitment.	Treat others the way you want to be treated. Listening attentively, making eye contact when talking with someone, accepting differences , etc. are all ways you can be respectful.

Teaching Point 2 - Conduct a Goal Mapping Activity

Let's talk about setting goals!

Wrapping it Up

A reminder to remember why this is important:

- Lets us realise responsibilities in and out of the cadet program
- Set goals to take action and improve

Today, we have:

- learned responsibilities in our cadet program
 - brainstormed short term and long term goals
 - set goals for the training year
